Our men went over with cheers, driving the Filipinos before them and following so closely that they did not have time to get beyond the cemetery walls. We killed over forty of the fugitives. Our ine ran up to the cemetery wall, part of our men going over it and part of them around the flanks. The enemy having been driven from the cemetery quickly evacuated

Montgomery County Farmer Goes Insane and Murders Two Little Sons -Exposures at Greenfield.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. SHREVEPORT, La., June 1 .- Dr. George Allen Thomson committed suicide here today. He lived formerly at Crawfordsville, Ind., and recently at Chicago. He is a brother-in-law of the late Charles H. Mc-Crarer. Telegrams to his friends sent by the coroner have not yet been answered. The body is held, awaiting instructions.

Comes of Well-Known Family.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. CRAWFORDSVILLE,, Ind., June 1.-The news of the tragic death of Dr. George Thompson, received here late to-night, caused the greatest surprise. Those who knew him were greatly shocked to hear of the occurrence. Dr. Thompson belonged to one of the oldest and most prominent famflies in this city. His father, the late Professor Thompson, at one time held a chair in Wabash College. His cousin, Rev. Everett B. Thompson, is a well-konwn Presbyterian minister in this city. Dr. Thompson was educated at Wabash, and was one of the brightest young men ever turned out of the institution. When he left this city several years ago to take up the practice of medicine in Chicago his prospects for a successful career were of the brightest.

About twelve years ago Dr. Thomson married Miss Lulu Wilson, of this city, and they returned to Chicago to live. His wife was the niece of the prominent attorney, W. T. Brush, who was at one time the law partner of the late R. B. F. Peirce. Mr. Brush died about two years ago. Miss Wilson made her home with the Brush family prior to her marriage. Dr. Thomson's un-cle, Alexander Thomson, is an ex-treasurer of Wabash College and he was succeeded by Theodore Ristine, one of the bestknown lawyers of Crawfordsville, whose wife is a sister of Dr. Thomson. The mother of the unfortunate man is at present living in Minneapolis with her son Robert. Mrs. Charles McCrarer, another sister of Dr. Thomson, is with their mother. Miss Mary Thomson, a younger sister, is a tal-ented vocalist and is at present in Europe studying music. Another sister, Mrs. John | Woman's Home Missionary Society of the McClain, lives in the West. Dr. Thomson was a specialist in the treat-ment of the eye, ear and nose, and had an office in the Auditorium at Chicago. During his younger days while in school here he was very popular socially. He was about nervous collapse, and it is presumed he must have been temporarily deranged. His wife is supposed to be in Chicago. OIL MEN SQUANDER GAS. One Well Alone Wasting 1,500,000

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. MARION, Ind., June 1.-State Gas In spector Leach, of Kokomo, was called to this city yesterday to make an investigation in regard to the large amount of gas that is escaping at the newly-drilled oil well on the Vanvactor farm, where the big accident took place Tuesday evening. The local gas companies took up the matter and insisted that Mr. Leach compel the oil company to take care of the gas and prevent its escaping. Mr. Leach visited the well and found that the oil well is producing about a mil-lion and a half cubic feet of gas each day. He also seemed to think the well would be a big oil producer. It is understood he obtained an agreement from the company that it would do everything possible to prevent the gas escaping. Mr. Leach was again asked the question as to how long he thought gas would hold out in the Indiana field, and he replied that he thought it would last much longer than was the general opinion. He thinks the life of gas de pends quite largely on the decision which will soon be rendered by the Supreme Court as to the rights of oil operators to use gas in their business. If they are permitted to use it in forcing out the oil, its life will be very much shortened. By such a decision Mr. Leach also thinks there would be many more oil wells put down and much gas would be unnecessarily wasted. THIEVING OFFICIALS.

Experts Find Still Further Shortages in Hancock County.

special to the Indianapolis Journal. GREENFIELD, Ind., June 1.-Another chapter in the rottenness and corruption of some of the officials of Hancock county is now being brought to light. After the return of the one thousand and one indictments against the various officers and ex-officers some of the Democratic leaders here set up the cry of "persecution." They said that it was only a Republican scheme, that the victims were honest and straightforward. The Democratic commissioners thereupon appointed James F. Reed, Republican, and Robert L. Mason, Democrat, to go through the books of the various officials and report the exact state of affairs. The report has now been put on record and shows that in the recorder's office from Nov. 20, 1896, to the close of the term of James Thomas, there is a shortage of fees collected and not turned into the county treasury of $1,709.62. The fees of many deeds, mortgages, releases, leases, etc., were never reported on the fee book and of many often only a part of the legal fee due the county was reported. Of deeds, November, 1898, he fell on a defective board the fees for probably 300 were never re-ported at all, of mortgages more than 200 and of miscellaneous instruments, when the fees were smaller, probably 1,200 or 1,500 were not reported, as the shortage in the miscellaneous record alone was $737.90. The report of Reed and Mason shows that the grand jury could have returned several ndred more indictments against Deputy order Elwin E. Thomas without persecuting him. He is under indictment now for embezzlement and a fugitive from justice.

COL. J. B. MERRIWEATHER DEAD. At One Time One of the Best Known Men in Indiana.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., June 1.-Col. James B. Merriwether, aged sixty-nine, who was one of the best-known men in Indiana, died shortly after last midnight in this city. For several years he has been failing in health and suffered much from rheumatism, which almost entirely disabled him. Other complications set in about four months ago and it has been known for some time that he could not live but a short time. By his first wife he had two sons. His second wife survives him, but has no children. He was a Mason, Knight of Honor, member of the Ancient Order of United Workmen and of the Grand Army. The funeral will take place Sunday. James B. Meriwether belonged to in old Kentucky family which settled in Jefferson county shortly after the arrival of George Rogers Clark. He was a son o David Meriwether who, from 1853 to 1857, was Governor of New Mexico. Colonel Meriwether was born on a farm nine miles below Louisville. His brother, W. A. Meriwether is a well-known citizen of Louisville, who lately served as county assessor. He leaves also one sister, Mrs. John Williams, of Asheville, N. C., besides many distant relatives in Louisville.

He graduated from a Louisville law school early in the fifties, and while his father was in New Mexico he made the acquaintance of Kit Carson and became his friend. He was an attorney in the famous Kissane conspiracy. Colonel Meriwether settled in Jeffersonville before the civil war, and married the daughter of Judge Reed, a promi-rent and wealthy citizen. When the Thirty-eight Indiana Regiment was organized, Sept. 18, 1861, Colonel Meriwether was comn.issioned major under Lieut. Col. Walter Q. Gresham, and afterwards succeeded Gresham, who was made a general. On May 1, 1863, Colonel Meriwether was made provost marshal of the Second congressional district, with headquarters in this city. He served in this capacity until July 1865, when he was honorably discharged. After the war he practiced law and was later appointed warden of the State Prison South by his friend, Governor Morton. He was a member of the G. A. R., Knights of Honor and Ancient Order of Workingmen.

MURDERED HIS TWO SONS.

Crasy Deed of Farmer Albert Wells Near Darlington.

ecial to the Indianapolis Journal. DARLINGTON, Ind., June 1.-Albert ella living a few miles northeast of here, while in a fit of insanity to-day undertook to kill his four little sons by throwing them in an old well out in the field. The shrieks of the children attracted the mother who ran and screamed to men working in a near-by field. On reaching the well they found Wells had thrown in all of the boys and was standing at the top and hurling bricks and stones down on them. Albert Barker, a farmer, on reaching the scene, threw Wells to one side and began the rescue of the children. The oldest, eleven years old, and the youngest, four years old, were dead, with their skulls crushed. The other two, aged six and eight, were still alive, but were badly bruised. One has a gash three inches long, laying the scalp bare. The approach of other neighbors seemed to frighten Wells, who started to run toward Sugar creek, three-fourths of a mile away. Several men had joined the pursuit by this time, but Wells reached the stream and plunged in to drown himself, the creek being swollen from the late rains. Charles Guntle, aged seventeen, was the first to undertake to rescue Wells, and several other men were obliged to go to the rescue of the Guntle boy, on whom Wells had turned, and was about to drown as well as himself. Finally the wild man and his victim were dragged out. Marshal Miller was notified and went to the farm this evening and brought Wells in and now has him locked up. Wells is a farmer and schoolteacher and has been considered very bright. For the last few months he has shown signs of mental derangement, and neighbors had been threatening for some time to have him committed to the asylum.

Old Teachers Displaced.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. MARION, Ind., June 1.-An unfortunate situation has developed in the public schools of Marion. The board saw fit not to extend an invitation to Miss Minnie Tresslar, teacher of English in the High School, to remain another year. Her friends at once started an agitation for her retention and the matter was further complicated last night when Miss Carrie Reynolds, teacher of botany and physical geography was of botany and physical geography, was handed a letter by the principal, Virgil Mc-Knight, stating that her contract with the School Board for the coming year had been canceled. This fact is explained by the circumstance that Miss Reynolds had been a strong friend of Miss Tresslar in her con-troversy with the School Board. Miss Reynolds is considering the advisability of testing her contract in the courts. Jealousies and spite work are alleged in the case of Miss Tresslar, and Superintendent W. D Weaver, of the city schools, ex-chaplain of the One-hundred-and-sixtleth Regiment of Volunteers, is charged with being behind the efforts to throw her out of the position. There is talk of a petition to have Mr. Weaver removed. Both of the women have been in their present positions for nearly ten years.

AMERICAN MEDIATION SCHEME ADOPTED BY SUBCOMMITTEE.

Secretary Hollis's Speech-Renewal of the Report that Mrs. Maybrick May Be Soon Released.

THE HAGUE, June 1. - The American mediation scheme was unanimously adopted at yesterday's sitting of the subcommittee and embodied as Article 7 in the scheme prepared by the subcommittee, with few alterations. The first commission, by a vote of 18 to 3, has adopted a resolution prohibiting the use of flattened bullets. Italy, Austria and Great Britain formed the minority. It was also resolved to prohibit the use of explosives from balloons and explosive bullets. An agreement was found to be impossible on all the important proposals and the conviction is growing more than ever that the work of the first commission is doomed to failure. The second section of the Red Cross committee is also encountering difficulties, as the American and British delegates are opposing the proposed regulations as being too stringent. It appointed a small committee to settle the details of the method of extending the Geneva convention to maritime warfare. GRIEVANCES OF UITLANDERS.

Questions Which President Kruger and Milner Will Discuss. BLOEMFONTEIN, Orange Free State, June 1.-Among the most important points that President Paul Kruger, of the Transvaal Republic, and Sir Alfred Milner, Governor of Cape Colony and British high commissioner for South Africa, will have to discuss at their conference here in regard to the demands of the Uitlanders will be the question of the dynamite monopoly, under which the Uitlanders are groaning and which the British secretary of state for the colonies, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, has used his utmost endeavors to remedy. But a blue book on the subject, issued to-night, shows that matters in this connection have practically reached a deadlock. The blue book opens with a letter from

Mr. Chamberlain, dated Jan. 13, reviewing the whole question and protesting that the onopoly was inconsistent with the London convention. To this the Transvaal government replies, under date of March 9, con-troverting the arguments of Mr. Chamberlain and stating that her Majesty's govern-ment was not entitled to a protest. Mr. Chamberlain, on April 21, however, renewed the British protest, adding that her Maj-esty's government reserves its rights. In answer to this the Transvaal government replied, on May 22, with two curt sen-tences to the effect that it abided with the views expressed in its communication of

To further embitter the situation the faculty refused to re-lieve the seniors from duty during the last week before commencement and they accordingly called off the classday exercises, the important event of commencement sent out that the following was prepared as a truthful explanation of the situation:

It has been the custom at De Pauw for a number of years for the seniors to wear the Oxford cap and gown. This year the class of '99 decided by a majority year to follow the seniors to the follow of '99 decided by a majority year to follow the seniors to the follow the seniors to week. So many conflicting reports had been Oxford cap and gown. This year the class of '99 decided by a majority vote to follow the custom and secure the regalia. The class was strongly divided on the question and as many as twelve members went so far as to sign a paper pledging themselves under no circumstances to wear the gowns. How-ever, the majority voted for the uniform and placed the order with Lilly & Co. through Mr. Watts, president of the class, who had formerly been the local agent of that company. This caused the charges of a "rake off" against Mr. Watts. There was so much dilly-dallying around by the class on the question that Mr. Watts finally canceled his order and informed the class that had been cognizant of the dissension, and order to settle the question, passed an order ruling that all members who desired to reday must appear in cap and gown on that occasion. This action was taken without the knowledge of any member of the class and came as a surprise to the university at large. Subsequently a number of the class placed their orders for caps and gowns with Cottrell & Leonard through the committee of which Fred Ogg is chairman. The outfit is the same as that worn by last year's class and was secured at the same That there has been an "elegant rake-off" on the deal, as charged by some, is ridiculed

The alumni association of De Pauw has made a radical change in the programme for alumni day during the commencement week. Heretofore the programme has consisted of he master's oration, a stated address livered by an old graduate. This year this place to a "camp fire," where many of the former graduates will take part in short talks, which will be interspersed by the singing of college songs especially prepared for the occasion. INCIDENTS OF THE DAY.

Speeches by Foraker and Daugherty -Victory for the Cox Delegation. COLUMBUS, O., June 1.-Senator Foraker created a sensation to-day by declarations which indicated to the delegates that he was opposing Senator Hanna. When the large McKisson delegation arrived at noon it serenaded Senator Foraker at the Southern Hotel, the headquarters of the anti-Hanna and anti-Nash men. The senator said he joined them in putting on his fighting clothes and closed his speech thus: "We are on the eve of a great political battle, and Ohio is to play a most important part in this battle, and I say to you that she must be right. This convention is a most important one, and if we are to have right and prestige with us we must let the people of our party have a voice in our councils. I say here and now that I believe you to be loyal, legal representatives of your party, and I hope to see you seated in the conven-

Hon. H. M. Daugherty lives at Washington C. H., Fayette country, and when the delegation arrived from his home he was serenaded, and made a speech which some interpreted in connection with the speech of Senator Foraker as indicating that the field was showing defiance to Senator Hanna and Judge Nash. Mr. Daugherty closed thus:

"I have no quarrel with any man within or without the Republican party, unless he should by mistake forget that it is within the province of the provi the province of the people to make the can-didate for Governor. Every candidate seeking the support of this convention is my per-sonal friend and an honest man. I do not claim this nomination as a matter of right or beyond and above any other man. I present my cause to the Republicans of Ohio Their verdict, when returned, is my verdict cheers], because I have never appealed from the decision of the Republican party from my precinct to the national convention.

ical sky that will not, like the clouds of today, pass away.' The state central committee was in sion during the forenoon and decided, at least in the case of Hamitlon county, what did not constitute cause for contest. committee held that contests would be cided on the party law as expounded in call of this year, and not on the calls for state conventions in former years. In 1896 the Republican state convention adopted a resolution against the selection of delegates the Republican state convention add to state conventions by the county commit-tees and provided for their selection by wards and townships according to the law for primaries. This being the only issue in the Hamilton county contest, the Cox delegation will not only be seated at once in the temporary organization, but also get the full representation for the first and second congressional districts on all the committees. The Cox delegation is thus not only practically uncontested, but also holds the balance of power in passing on the contests from Cleveland, Columbus and other parts of the State. There was talk of attempting an exemption also for the Franklin county contest, but it was held that, as the committee met at Columbus in March, prev to the April elections, and twenty-nine days before the call for the state convention was issued, and then selected the Nash dele-gation, no call or law could be interpreted for retroactive operation. The action of the state committee showed an alliance of the field against Nash, that the Daugherty, Cox and Kurtz forces were pulling together on the selection of members of the committee on credentials and in other preliminary work. This will imply the seating of the Holcomb delegation from Cleveland against both the Hanna and the McKis-son delegations, and it eliminates Mayor McKisson rot only from this convention, but also from the old combine with Kurtz, Bushnell and others. When it comes to balloting for Governor the action of the state committee will also have its effect, but the extent of its final influence cannot be indicated. At the district meetings in the afternoon the combine including the Daugherty, Cox and Kurtz forces had a bare majority and secured control of the committees, including the pivotal point in the organization con-ceded to be vested in the committee on credentials, but the Hanna and Nash men still claim a majority of the delegates by countles. The First and Second districts, affirming their previous action at Cincinnati, met jointly and adopted a resolution authorizing Chairman Cox to cast the eighty-six votes of Hamilton county in the convention under the unit rule. There was talk among the delegates about presenting ex-Congressman John A. Caldwell, of Cincinnati, for Lieutenant Governor if Congressman Shattuck or no other man from Hamilton county got the first place. The subcommittee on resolutions comed their work to-night and will report early to-morrow. The resolutions commend the last Legislature for its legislation against trusts, denounce lynchings, indorse the ad-Governor Bushnell, recommend a uniform system of selecting delegates from the counties to the state convention, also the advencement of the merchant marine and uniform system of government for muncipal-
